Dear Ms. Khan,

Thank you for your letter and input on our show "Inside the Koran." We very much appreciate your comments and respect your position.

Our show is intended to offer a clearer understanding of the Koran through a cross section of Muslims living according to their varied interpretations of this complex spiritual guide. No single show on this subject can provide a definitive and exhaustive look at such a complex document as the Koran, or fully represent the views of the diverse Muslim communities. And while we value your comments concerning some aspects of the documentary, we stand behind our show, which was carefully researched and we feel does a commendable job bringing various interpretations and viewpoints to light.

Thank you again for your comments as well as for your generous offer to consult with us on any future projects on the topic.

Sincerely,

Russell A. Howard
